An Arkansas Tragedy.

Br. Lious, October 22.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Fort Smith, Ark., says: W.T. Morgan, a prominent citizen and Republican of Crawford County, Arkansas, was shot and killed last night by one D. Gibbs. Morgan has held many prominent positions, and recently served a term as County Judge. He was violent and overbearing and greatly feared. Yesterday he met Gibbs at Aima began ahusing him and threatsned his life. Gibbs left town to avoid trouble, but Morgan followed him, and finally Gibbs turned and emptied the contents of a shotgan in Morgan's face, killing him instantly.

CALDWELL-MURAT.

gene Kelly, one of Miss Caldwell's guard-s, said to a reporter: "I know of no reason her refusing to marry, him, and can't even ajecture whether the money question has to the disagreement, if any exists. I did t go over to look after her interests, as s was represented there by her resident ansel, who conducted all of the financial rotiations. As I understand it, her counsel vised Miss Caldwell to give the Prince a tain sum in bulk and make him an annual allowance. But I do not know what sum was proposed.

"I think she might have given him a couple of hundred thousand dollars, but she could not materially have increased the amount of the gift, as she can only dispose of the income from her inheritance. In case she has no children, she can by will dispose of the property at her death, but if she has children it must go to them. I have not, met Prince Murst, but from what I have learned of him I am sure he was worthy of Miss Caldwell, and I shall be very sorry to learn that the marriage is not to take place. I made inquiries regarding him and received information entirely satisfactory, and am sure he is a gentleman and man of fine mental qualities.

"I know nothing about his alleged debts, but if they are very heavy it would have been impossible for Miss Caldwell to have liquidated them, except in so far as her income would answer for this purpose."

HEARING EVIDENCE.

The Story of the Cronin Crime as Related by Witnesses.

Chicago, October 22.—The closing evidence in the Cronin trial yesterday was by Dr. Cronin's brother from Arkansas. He identified the Lakeview corpse as that of his brother. Frank Scanlan gave evidence as to seeing Dr. Cronin drive off from his office in the white horse rig. T. B. Conklin, the saloon keeper with whom Cronin resided, was recalled by the State. He testified to starting out immediately after breakfast the first morning of Cronin's absence to search for the doctor. At O'Sullivan's house the ice man was seen and denied having sent for Cronin or that any of his men had been hurt. Conklin then went to police headquarters, proceeding afterward to the East Chicago-avenue Police Station. Conklin went at one to the Pinkertons.

At the opening of Judge McConnell's Court this morning Mrs. Wintred Dinan, wife of Patrick Dinan, the liveryman who owns the famous white horse, took the stand as a witness. She testified to the facts about the horse being taken and driven north on the night of May 4, and his return at 9:30 clock steaming with perspiration, as if he had been hand driven.

Chicago, October 29.—The three pictures of the man arrested in Philadelphia on suspicion of being Tascott, the Snell murdeere, arrived this morning. They were submitted to Sergeant Dammon, who has known Tascott since boyhood. "Pahaw," said r-, the moment his eyes rested on the photographs, "He's no more Tascott than I am. I don't see how the Philadelphia police could have made such a mistake." An Evening News reporter who went to school with Tascott saw the pictures. He says they are certainly not those of the Snell murderer. The officers at the Central Station were bitterly disappointed, for they had been led to hope that at last the elusive young man was in custody.

GREENCASTLE, October 29.—George Kling's saloon, near the Yandalla Depot, was the scene of a lively racket yesterday evening, when Mrs. Al. Shuttleworth visited it in search of her husband. She found him, and then proceeded to clean out the saloon. Seizing a tumbler from off the counter, she fluing it at the mirror, broke the lamps above her head, smashed the show cases and scattered their contents over the floor. The wife of the proprietor was in charge of the saloon at the time, and valuly endeavored to quiet the infuriated woman. Shuttleworth also tried to restrain her by force, but she was too much for him, and when she had completed her work of destruction a he vowed that she would clean out every saloon in the neighbor-

Two or three farm hands were present and attempted to separate them, but narrowly escaped serious injury and failed in the endeavor. The mare kicked the ox in the side with both feet, nearly stunning him, but the latter recovered and gored the mare two or three times. Both fought with the greatest fury. The mare both kicked and bit tearing chunks of flesh from the ox with her sharp tecth, while she in turn was raked again and again by the ox's sharp horns. Both were covered with blood, but continued the battle desperately despite all the efforts of the men to separate them. At last the ox plunged his horn almost entirely through the thick part of the mare's neck. The blow was tatal, but as the mare staggered her weight broke the ox's horn short off, and she fell and died with it in her body. The ox was so badly kicked and bitten that he died in the afternoon.

Natural Gas Not So Cheap.

Natural Gas Not So Cheap.

The notice of the Indianapolis Natural Gas Company that all contracts at rates below ordinance prices will not be renewed after November 1, has caused some of the patrons who wanted cheap gas right away to grumble. The change was in the nature of an astonishment, for the company a year ago advertised as follows, for weeks:

"Do not be deceived. The Indianapolis Natural Gas Company expects to undersell all competitors in the gas business. We make all contracts for domestic, store or office use at 30 per cent. off. We will add to these contracts a clause agreeing at their termination to continue to supply gas as low or lower than any competitor will then supply you. Also, when the time comes, as it surely will, when it will be hard work to get a gas supply from any company, we shall give the preference to our early patrons. The inducement that is being held out by others, that they will next year or some other time supply you at half price, is misleading and a subterfuge. Buy only of the company that sells cheap now, and agrees in the contract to continue so to do. This gives you a certain advantage."

It is a question whether the company has any right to raise. The City natural gas ordinance says: "When any corporation, company, firm or individual supplying the city of Indianapolis or its inhabitants with natural gas has once reduced the price of gas below the schedule of prices herein before set out, such corporation, company, firm or individual shall be prohibited from increasing such reduced schedule of prices for a period of three years, and then only by and with the consent of the Common Council and Board of Aldermen."

Dr. McLeed has been one of the most popular of the club's members; he has con-tributed to its wit and learning, and has been foremost in provoking much of the club's most delightful repartee.

Dr. N. A. Hyde, President of the club, magnanimously pointed out the position Dr. McLeod had occupied; showed how he had given and taken, and regretted the loss the club would sustain from his departure. W. P. Fishback said that the Doctor was the "most clubbable man in the club," and that he, the speaker, had often gone home bearing evidence of the use the good Doctor had made of his shillalah. He thought Dr. Brayton could give testimony on this point. The latter said that Dr. McLeod was the only gentleman of the cloth in the club that had taken any interest in his spiritual welfare. He had even induced the speaker on one occasion to go to his church, but a superannuated substitute was in the pulpit, and the speaker found a good excuse to return to his office—and this had provoked Luke Walpole to "wish to God he could find some such excuse to go." Dr. Brayton hadn't heard much of Dr. McLeod's preaching, but as a member of this club he could hearthy indorse the Doctor to his new charge. Judge Howland remarked that the club was just now coming into much prosperity. It had accumulated considerable brica-brucas witness the pictures and the water coolerand it was highly regrettable that the Doctor should sever his relations now and deprive the club of his presence. Dr. Edson, who has been Dr. McLeod's intimate friend for many years, told how by association he had learned to love the Doctor more and more, and, with much pleasantry, expressed the belief that preachers should learn to stick to their charges as he had done that these sparations might not come about. Mr. McCelloch emphasized the thought that preachers should learn to stick to their charges as he had done that these sparations might not come about. Mr. McCelloch emphasized the thought that preachers should learn to stick to their charges as he had done that these sparations might not come about. A KINSHIP IN FLOWERS.

INTERESTING PROBLEMS OF THE FLORAL HYBRIDIZATION.

Artificial Coloring Not Resorted to As Much as Formerly, But Still William Bertermann, the florist, talked to a News reporter from behind a bank of roses of all tints and hues.

"This rose is a prother of this one," said he, as he laid out two beautiful flowers of the deep pink variety. "Here is the grandfishher of these two," continued he, as he placed upon the counters aplendid red rose on a spindling stock, and here is the grandfishher of these two, "continued he grandfishher of these tractive agreement the said and the rose of unattractive appearance, but set upon a rugged stalk. Then Mr. Bertermann pointed out the cousins, and aunts, and uncles and other relatives of the flowers he had exhibited.

"Its just like raising horses or cattle or hogs," said he. "The stock is continually improved by careful breeding. Flower breeding has become a science, and by crossing the best varieties every year, new and more beautiful flowers are being grown. A man who ceased to be a florist ten years ago could not go into a superior of the flowers that we deal in most extensively. There has been a mixture of blood, so to speak, until nearly all the old time flowers have lost their identity. Nearly all the flowers all nearly all the old time flowers have lost their identity. Nearly all the flowers sold now are hybrids, or crosses between the most desirable old stocks."

Mr. Bertermann then explained the process of hybridization, the mere operation of which is easy enough. It is simply necessary or about the content of the county of the same time to the signature of the flower of the other, or seed bearer. A colony of bees in a flower graden will do the work better than it can be done with a brush. They constantly chry the pollen from one flower to another, but of course there is no system, about the crosses they bring about. When hybridization is attempted the florist may become able to tell when to apply the pollen. Not a few plants develop stigm and anthers at the same time, and with them it is necessary to remove the anthers before they burst, and at the same time, and with them it is ne have been floating around conspicuously for several days, and an attempt to verify these reports is not altogether satisfactory. The local electric light men not connected with the Brush Company believe that the company is now, or soon will be, controlled by the Thompson-Houston Company. Said one of these gentlemen: "The Thompson-Houston Company has not bought the Brush Company outright, but some wealthy gentlemen in Boston, who own stock in the Thompson-Houston Company, have purchased a controlling interest in the Brush Company. While it is not an outright purchase the object is to get control of the Brush Company." "Is it likely that the local Brush Company." "Is it likely that the local Brush Company is included in the deal?"

"It should think it would be, although I have no means of knowing that it is."

The Western Electrician, of Chicago, regarded as suthority on all electric matters, has this to say in its last issue of the great deal, which may touch Indianapolis: "The report has been general during the past few days that the control of the Brush Electric Company of Cleveland has been acquired by the Thompson-Houston Company of Boston. Investigation confirms the reports in so far as the sale of the Brush Company goes. The control of this company has recently been acquired by Boston parties. The autonomy of the Brush Company is not to be disturbed in the alightest. Its principal office will still be in Cleveland and its factories and business will be conducted as heretoires. The Brush Company is the pioneer company in the clectric light business and has grown to mammoth proportions. A French writer has come to the conclusion that the pianist is the most wonderful creature in the world. Probably the largest extreme exercision.

Probably the largest returns, everything considered, that come to writers are those which are received in royalties for text books for schools. The late Professor Elias Loomis, of Yale, was supposed to be a comparatively poor man, yet his estate, on probate the other day, revealed wealth that is pretty near a half a million dollars. This represents the returns he received in royal-ties for his text books, which have always een popular.
The Archbishop of Canterbury lately addressed a letter to each convention of the principal "Nonconformists," the Baptists and Cougregationalists, urging a closer union between them and the Established and Congregationalists, urging a closer union between them and the Established Church; but in each case his overtures were repelled. The fact of establishment is one of the serious obstructions to the Nonconformist mind, and also the standing of superiority enjoyed by the English priests in their relations with their parishes.

The admiration aroused by the recent performances of the rapid-firing Elswick guns, which can discharge in a given time twice the weight of shot and shell that can be fired by the largest war ship affoat, armed with other kinds of ordnance, is somewhat qualified by the discovery that these guns can not be discharged more than two or three times without being allowed to cool. The heavy rifting and excessive friction of the projectiles in the bore soon put them hors de combat from overheating. They are not, like the Maxim, surrounded by a water jacket, and, after a few rounds, the operator has to wait till they get cool enough to begin again.

has to wait till they get coolenough to begin again.

Colonel H. G. Prout gives the following pen picture of Emin Pasha, whom he knew about thirteen years ago: In person Emin is a slender man of medium hight and tough and wiry figure. He is swarthy, with black eyes and hair. His face is that of a studious professional man, and that impression is heightened by the glasses he always wears. His attitudes and movements are, however, very alert. He stands erect, and with his heels together, as if he had been trained as a soldier. He was always reticent about himself, and his history was known to no one in the Soudan or the provinces of the Equator. He was supposed to be a Mohammedan. I am not sure that he ever said that he was, but I am quite sure that he did not deny it when I knew him. It has become known later that he is German, of university education; but there were many at that time who thought he was a Turk of extraordinary acquirements. He is certainly a man of great abilities in many ways and of strong character.

Plan for One finif as [New York Sun.]

[New York Sun.]

W. L. Judson, the inventor of a pneumatic street railway system which bears his name, has designed a tower for the World's Fair which, on paper, is so superior to the invention of M. Eiffel as to be practically an original conception. In the first place, the proposed tower is to be more than half as high again as the Eiffel tower. Its hight is to be four times its diameter at the base which is 400 feet. Two spiral inclines, one for vehicles and the other for a tramway, will wind around the outside with an 8 per cent. grade. The inclines will begin at opposite sides of the structure and will wind one above the other. A drive up the incline for vehicles of about 1,200 feet, or once around the tower, will bring one directly over the point of starting, but nearly 100 feet higher. Another drive of 1,200 feet will elevate one another hundred feet, and so on. The total length of the drive will be three and one-half miles. The patron of a tram car will similarly mount a hundred feet in the air for every 1,200 feet traveled on the other spiral incline. Mr. Judson naturally expects to have the tram cars operated by his system, but by almost any cable system the top could be reached in twenty minutes, as is designed, running at half a minute headway.

In place, therefore, of being shot up a way.

In place, therefore, of being shot up a dark elevator shaft, as in the Eiffel tower, those who mount the American improvement will asend by slow and easy stages, as ment will asend by slow and easy stages, as if going up a mountain, the view around them expanding until at the top 175 miles of land and water will be visible on a clear day. It costs nearly $2.50 to go up one of the Eiffel elevators, but the trains of the improved tower could carry 96,400 people a day of twelve flours, which at a dollar a head, would make a good revenue. This would be largely augumented by a tariff on vehicles and foot passengers.

Inside the spiral inclines are to be ten circular floors, 275 feet in diameter, which

Inside the spiral inclines are to be ten circular floors, 275 feet in diameter, which may be utilized for many purposes. If occupied as lodgings they would have plenty of customers on hot summer nights. The top of the tower would manifestly be a good place for an observatory. The cost of the proposed structure, the chief material of which, as of the Eiffel tower, would be iron; estimated at $2,500,000, a sum which a revenue anything like $100,000 a day would liquidate long before the World's Fair was half over.

The plan of the tower, together with the The plan of the tower, together with the tram and carriage-ways, is said to have been approved by some of the best engineers in the country, among whom are Adolphus Bonzano, of the Phenix Bridge Company, who claims to have offered a design similar to the Eiffel tower to the Philadelphia Exposition, to which the Memorial building was preferred, and Captain G. W. Synerus, of the United States Engineer Corps. The Phenix Company has so much faith in the tower that it has offered to take a big block of stock in the company for its erection. of stock in the company for its erection. The tower could be run up inside of a year, as its various sections could be constructed simultaneously, and put together as fast as they were finished.

The Indian in Politics.

[Philadelphia Telegraph.]
It is learned at the Interior Department in Washington that 20,000 Indians will be clothed with the franchise before another Presidential election comes around. This leads to some speculation as to how these votes will be cast and the probable effect of their enfranchisement in national politics. Almost five thousand Sioux have emerged from their tribe and taken up individual tracts of land in South Dakota, so that the red man in that State will henceforth be an important political factor. Here is a tiptop chance for the aspiring politicians of the maiden State to make their debut into 'practical politics," and put in their bids or the Indian vote. Already the tricksters of Montana have caught up with Eastern election methods and would prove them-selves worthy matches for the best in the trade. The Indian has been in this country long enough to know all the little ways of the white man, and he would do himself infinite credit by keeping his own

A "Walking Funeral."

[James Payn, in London News.] [James Payn, in London News.]

The lower classes, especially in the North country, are often accused of a lack of tenderness in their domestic relations. One of the saddest of Dean Ramsay's stories is that in which the Highland wife, when on her death-bed in Glasgow, beseeches her husband to let her be buried in her own country among the hills, since she is sure ber hones will never rest in the bateful her bones will never rest in the hateful town, to which he replies: "I'll bury ye in the Gorbals first, hinny, and if ye don't moderate in drinking—this is the advice of a father to his son."

Great Britain mined almost 10,000,000 more tons of coal, iron and other minerals last year than in 1887, and employed 10,000 more men in the work, but fewer lives were lost in the process. The total number of fatal accidents was 885, and of deaths occasioned thereby 960, being an increase of four in the accidents, but a decrease of ninety-one in the lives lost.

Some one estimates that getting born accidents.

In the Gorbals first, hinny, and if ye don't lay quiet there, then I'll see about it."

But it is not always so. A poor woman in Searborough, the other day, expressed a similar wish to be buried in her native place, and her husband, having no other means of transporting the body, wheeled it on a hand-cart seventy miles of hilly road to carry out her wishes. Their little son accompanied him on that miserable journey, which was accomplished in wet weather.

The Visiting Card

[New York Sun.]

The preferred visiting card just now for the married lady is rather large, not quite square, very stiff and dead white. Do not make the mistake of writing "Mrs." this way; instead write it in the received style, which is "Mrs." Your oldest daughter is Miss Black, your second one Miss Virginia Black, and your sons always prefer Mr. before their Christian names after they pass the egotistical age of sixteen. These seem like small matters to people who are absorbed in the big things of this world to the entire exclusion of the small courtesies, but as everything is being judged a little by the card, certainly care should be taken to make it correct. Too Much Braid on Dresses. [New York Evening Post.]

[New York Evening Post.]

The mania for braiding dresses, and for that matter for braiding nearly every article of wear, seems to be greater than ever. It seems strange that no simple, pretty fashion can be adopted without being carried to extremes and hackneyed in three months' time. Braiding, like fine beading, looks well if used sparingly, but an entire gown running over with ornamental vines, arabesques, leaves, berries, bugs, birds and blossoms, put on indiscriminately from throat to skirt-hem, often immensely large figures, is a sight to see, and is utterly bad taste.

Rev. Samuel Bock, an old and highly esteemed minister of the German Baptist Church, of Kokomo, and Dr. John W. Beisecker, of West Middletown, both of Howard County, died yesterday. Dr. Beisecker was a leading practitioner, and at one time he was prominent in educational work.

Rev. J. N. Barnett, of the English Lutheran Church, of Goshen, on Sunday last surprised his congregation by tendering his resignation, throat trouble impelling him to retire from the ministry. Then the members surprised the pastor by refusing to accept it, at the same time expressing satisfaction with whatever he might be able to do for them in the future.

Rev. M. Swadener, of the Marion Methodist Church, has resigned his pastorate to engage in evangelical work. Thirteen years ago, while still very young, he gave up his trade of cooper to enter the ministry, and since that time he has taken advanced rank as a popular and effective preacher in the North Indiana Conference. His resignation will take effect April 1.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS—Having made poetical advertising a study I will, for reasonable consideration, versify all departments of business to order, subject to approval. Poetical ads are a departure from the old stereotyped methods, and when smoothly written are very attractive and profitable. Address all communications to The Poet, care of Indianapolis News. NEW BOOKS.

The agent for The New Century ary has the first volume, with les of binding, on exhibition at THE BOWEN-MERRILL CO.

TWO CHILDREN MADE HAPPY. One Finds Her "Poppy" and A Finds a Friend Indeed.

Yesterday morning a flaxen-haired girl about three years old was found by the firmen at the No. 13 Engine House. She was kept until near evening and as no one called for her, the child was sent to Police Headquarters. Al Taffe placed her in charge of Mrs. Foppiano living across the street and the baby was very kindly cared for. About 8 o'clock a wild-oyed man rushed into the Station House and gasped: "Gentleman have you a little girl here."

Sergeant Buscher took him across the street and when the child caught sight of her father she dropped her playthings and throwing her little arms about his neck shouted "Ooh poppy," "my poppy." "my poppy." The man cried, the baby cried and Sergeant Buscherwas a little damp about the eye.

A little mite of a boy with a bundle of pa-

A little mite of a boy with a bundle of papers under his arm stood under the shadow of the Grand Hotel entrance last night. He was poorly protected from the cutting winds and his hands were like little chunks of ice. He was bawling most lustily, the tears cutting gutters through the dirt on his face.

"What's the matter, my lad?" asked a gentleman, attracted by the child's sobs.

"I'm—I'm stuck."

"Stuck?" ejaculated the gentleman in surprise.

"Stuck" ejaculated the general prise.

"Ya'as, I can't sell my papers and if I don't sell them my ma will whip me."

"Whip you, child?"

"Ya'as. She ain't my right ma, and I have to give her money or git licked, and I'm so cold and hungry and afraid to go home if I don't sell my papers."

The gentleman questioned the boy at some length, and, being satisfied that the child—who should have been in bed at that hourwas telling the truth, gave him enough money to pave the way for peace at home.

PARK APPROPRIATION SPENT.

to All City Departments.

If the Pan-Americans, who will visit this city Friday next, desire to take home with them a little book entitled "Picturesque Indianapolis," they will have to pay for them-at least, so far as the city is concerned. That was the action of the Board of Aldermen last night. The Council appropriated $5 to pay for the books, but on Mr. Tousey's motion the matter was referred to the Finance Committee. As that committee will not meet for a couple of weeks, the matter is really settled now.

A bill of $160 for work on Garfield Park was resented. It was learned that the $10,000 ap-propriation for the park was exhausted and he bill will have to be paid out of the general the bill will have to be paid out of the general fund.

The board concurred in the action of the Council in the viaduct matter. The Lake Erie and Monon Railroads were ordered to place flagmen at certain crossings. The Western Paving and Supply Company was awarded the contract to asphalt Court street. Messrs. Smith & Taylor, Committee on Light, reported in favor of placing a number of lamp posts—how many the ordinances except in one instance did not state. Mr. Ra.! objected to the report. He is a member of the committee but hadn't been called on to sign any reports and if the committee had a meeting he was not aware of it. Mr. Laut moved the reports be referred back to the committee. This was done except in the case of a lamp on Ellsworth street. This was ordered, to the great delight of Mr. Connett.

MUST BE FREEHOLDERS.

It Be Put to a Test.

City Attorney Taylor says the memberselect of the Board of Aldermen must all be freeholders before they are inducted into office on the first of January.

"It wasn! necessary for the candidates to own real estate to make their election legal," said he. "The law provides that no man shall serve as a member of the Board who is not a freeholder. If the members-elect acquire real estate between the time of their election and the time of going into office, the law will have been complied with."

Another attorney gives it as his opinion that the law requiring a member of the Board to own real estate is in contravention of the constitution, which does not anywhere authorize the State to fix a property qualification for an office-holder.

Two of the members of the Board-elect have

Two of the members of the Board-elect have not the qualifications fixed by statute, and unless they attain them, the law fixing the property qualification may be tested.

To Make Playing Cards and Station To Make Playing Cards and Stationery. Several months ago the plant of the old Shaw Carriage Works was purchased in an unostentatious manner by an Eastern company, and recently a large amount of new machinery has been put into it. The firm is the "National Card Company of Indianapolis and New York," and here is the point where the goods are to be manufactured. Playing cards and fine stationery will be the products of the establishment. Robert H. McCutcheon, of New York, is President, and A. Crusins, of the same place, Secretary of the company. Samuel J. Murray, of Uncinnati, will be Superintendent when, in a few weeks, business begins. About 100 men will be employed.

New York Wins Again. The eighth game of the series between the New York and Brooklyn base ball clubs was played yesterday and won by the first named. The score was 16 to 7, and the making of it after the first two innings was exceedingly dull. Crane pitched in fine form, and John Ward's base running was one of the best features of the game.

Pitcher Fee has signed an Indianapolis contract for next season.

Dr. James Bryant's Death.

Dr. James Bryant died at the residence of his son-in-law, C. B. Foster, at 126 East Pratt street, last night. Dr. Bryant was stricken with paralysis at Xenia, O., a week ago, and brought to this city last Thursday. His home is in Covington, Ind. Three daughters, Mrs. C.B. Foster, Mrs. Ona Reynolds and Mrs. Green, survive him.

Precautions at the Treasurer's Office. Precautions at the Treasurer's Office.

Precautions at the Treasurer's Office.

Since the rush of tax-paying has commenced Treasurer Osterman keeps all the doors of his office, except the front entrance, securely locked and barred. "We don't propose to have this place robbed," remarked Deputy Frank Miller, as he pushed back a friend who was attempting to climb over a steel wire screen.

A Military Suggestion.

To the Editor of The Indiananolis News:

Apropos of the recent militia unpleasantness a few suggestions may not be out of order.

ness a few suggestions may not be out of order.

It was cited in a published interview that the incompetency of the officers was at the bottom of the whole trouble. As to the truth or falsity of this remark it is not within the scope of this article to say. The idea is that they ought to be above suspicion, and the following method of attaining such an and is given for what it is worth:

Inaugurate a school on the basis of West Point, such school to be supported by the State and officered by graduates of West Point. Admission to school by appointment state competitive examination. There being about forty companies in the present brigade, make one appointment for each company; the graduate to have a Captain's commission from the Governor and be assigned to the command of a company. The field and staff officers to rise from the rank of Captain.

All officers below Captain to rise from the ranks.

Commanders of companies to receive pay of anks.

Commanders of companies to receive pay of Captain in the United States Army and to be in the exclusive service of the State.

The objection might be raised that they would have very little to do. They would have very little to do. They would have ruly as much as United States officers stationed at universities and academies as commandants.

stationed at universities and academies as commandants.

The result would be that "esprit du corps," born of supteme confidence in one's officers; and if the troops should be called upon in time of need there would be precession and order and distribute.

If a school'ds necessary for the United State's army why isn't it for the State forces?

Some one will say the cost will be too great. To be sure, the appropriation would have to be doubled—perhaps more than that—and still we would appropriate less than other States.

"OLD CAMP KETTLE"

For sale by DANIEL STEWART,

PARROTT & TAGGART are making not only the best bread made in our city, but are making the largest loaves, thus creating a decided demand for their product. To prevent cheap, inferior, small loaves from being palmed off on a confiding public as their bread, this firm is placing on each of their loaves a tin tag bearing their firm name-PARROTT & TAGGART. Ask for Parrott & Taggart's Bread, and see that
